East Liverpool, O., Oct. 14.—A large reservoir containing 10,000,000 gallons of water, burst today and caused great damage. No lives were lost, but a score of people had narrow escapes. The money loss will probably reach $100,000. The reservoir which is owned by the city and which was only completed a few days ago, was filled this morning for the first time. It was taxed to its utmost capacity when the break occurred. A gang of laborers were laying pipes in a ditch near the wall which gave way, and miraculously escaped death.

The 12 year old son of Leo Boyd, colored, the express driver, met with a painful accident this morning. He was running along Broadway and when he got at the Geo. O. Hart establishment he ran against a post over which was swinging an ax. The blade of the ax struck the boy in the head and inflicted a painful scalp wound and severed an artery. The boy ran to the office of Dr. Robertson where his injury was dressed.

He was cutting out pieces in the tobacco boxes where the stamps are placed when the knife struck a knot and struck his thumb. The member was badly cut as far as the second joint and had to be amputated by Drs. Redlick and Rivers.

Mr. George Overstreet who fell out of a tree last Monday and crushed his shoulder and was also internally injured, is out on the street again. He came out yesterday morning. His many friends will be glad to learn that he is recovering.

Stationman John McFadden, who fell through a burning roof last Friday and was badly hurt, is not so well today, and his recovery is not so certain. He fell thirty or more feet, and seems to be internally injured.

Jack Penn, white, an employee of the Paducah Vinegar and Lumber Co., got his right hand entangled in the workings of a big saw this morning and cut very badly. The injury was dressed by Dr. Trontman. The fingers were cut but the injury is not of a serious nature.

POOR JIM BERRY

His Tragic End in Paducah is Recalled By His Widow.

A ROMANTIC CAREER

Berry Married Her Through Gratitude at Mt. Vernon.

SHE IS NOW A WAITRESS

Mrs. Lucille Miller Berry late subject of an interesting sketch in yesterday's Louisville Courier Journal. She was the wife of the "Millionaire Tramp," Jim Berry, who died in Paducah at the New Richmond hotel about three years ago, and is now waitress in an East St. Louis restaurant.

Too tragic romance of her life began in the lumber regions of Michigan, and she there rescued Berry, a helpless tramp, from a snowdrift, fed him and saw him no more until she ran across him in Mt. Vernon, Ill., her home, where he married her. He was then rich. He said: "I'm Jim Berry, the millionaire tramp. I'm your tramp that you pulled out of the snow drift. He remembered."

"Yes," said the girl, holding out her hand. "You weren't really a tramp at all, then?" "Oh, yes I was—and still am. But I'm rich now. Where is my ring?" "At home. Do you want it back?" "Yes. Shall I tell you what for?" "It isn't necessary. The ring is yours."

"I want it to marry you with." "But I'm not going to marry you," replied the girl. "Yes, you are," replied he. "Think it over and see."

He was right. She did, on the promise that he should stop drinking and straighten up. She told him frankly that she did not love him, and here she made a mistake that is still embarrassing her life, for afterwards when she had grown to love him he never believed that her heart was his, and never entirely gave her his confidence. Berry one day bought some horses from George Carter at Mt. Vernon, and after that had a mania for telegraphing him from every point.

On the last day of the year 1897 Liveryman Carter got one of the familiar telegrams: "Wait till the clouds roll by. Jim Berry." It was dated Paducah, Ky. On the following morning Berry was found here with his skull fractured and his watch and jewelry gone. Nineteen days later he died. Not a cent was left of the fortune he had inherited. Since then his widow has worked to support herself. They have no children.

In spite of her endeavors to keep her identity hidden, Mrs. Berry is known to hundreds of notoriety-seekers, who send her offers of marriage on an average of one a week. She says that she will not marry again.

"I never yet have seen the man who was Jim's equal when he was sober," says she; "I never expect to, and if I should, it would make no difference. I shall always be true to Jim's memory."

Pete Ross, Richard Sims, Andy Brandon, Joe Kaler, Jeff Curran, Joe Hooker, M. Matthews, W. W. Andrews and E. T. Fernand were fined $1 and costs in the police court this morning for drunkenness. The only thing unusual was the Fernand case. The defendant is an old, grey-headed man, and a "sport." He claimed to have $2,800 in a local bank, but it proved to be only about $1,300. He went around, drew the amount necessary to pay his fine, and said he was going up the Cumberland river to be quiet awhile, and has no home.

The death rate is on the decrease. The majority of deaths, as is seen, occurred during the heated term and now that cold weather has set in the death rate is on the decrease.

VICIOUS RAM

Attacks a Prominent Farmer of Marshall County Yesterday.

WAS ALMOST KILLED

His Faithful Dog is All That Saved Him From a Horrible Death.

HE MAY NOT RECOVER.

Mr. Joe Arant, a prominent farmer of near Sharpe, Marshall county, owes his life to his faithful dog. That is, if he recovers from the terrible injuries inflicted on him yesterday by a vicious ram.

Mr. Arant was found in a fence corner yesterday afternoon late by passing neighbors, unconscious and bleeding from many wounds. His dog stood over him and kept at bay a large and ferocious ram, which had attacked him while he was in the field. Mr. Arant was in the field attending to some duties when the ram, heretofore docile, without warning made a vicious lunge at him, and knocked him down.

He arose partially stunned, and seeing a fence rail, prepared to defend himself, but the blows he rained on the head of the animal had no apparent effect, except to make him more desperate. The ram finally broke, and left Mr. Arant at the mercy of the beast. It was futile to fight, and the ram knocked him down and halted him into insensibility.

At this juncture the dog appeared, and attacked the ram, and after a bloody fight, succeeded in driving the animal away from his master, thus saving him from the horrible fate that would otherwise have overtaken him.

It is not known how long he had been lying unconscious when found by friends, but his condition was such that he had to be hauled home in a wagon, and don'ts are entertained as to his recovery.

Mr. Arant often comes to Paducah, and has many friends here. He is known to many people, and is one of the best known men in his home county.

FROM COLOMBIA.
Metropolis, Ill., Oct. 14.—Captain Henry Glass, of the naval service, by the retirement of Rear Admiral Schley, under the age limit, this week goes on the list of rear admirals of the navy. Captain Glass is the son of Mr. Henry Glass, of Columbia.

The race horse which fell at the Columbia fair with its rider and broke its leg was given to James Abbott by the owner, he thinking it would probably have to be killed. Mr. Abbott had the limb reset and new the indications are that the animal will recover. It is a valuable one.

The eight year old son of Mr. Levi Hillington, near Temple Hill, Pope will harvest at least 1000 barrels.

Many will make from 200 to 300 barrels.

THREE MURDERS

NO INDICEMENTS

Clinton, Ky., Oct. 14.—There is much popular discontent over the fact that there have been three murders committed in Hickman county since the May term of circuit court and yet the grand jury was unable to get a single witness to appear before it and testify concerning any of these murders, two of which were of the foulest nature—those of young Lucas at the railroad tank, above town, and old Toney Gray, the negro fisherman, below Columbia.

FISHING PARTY LEFT THE CITY THIS MORNING.

This morning a fishing and hunting party left the city for Turner's Lake, to remain several days. It was composed of: Messrs. Gus Helms, Ed Pearson, Ernest Meyers, Harry Braz-leton, E. H. Decker, with Blis Owen, cook. They went down on the steamer Dick Fowler.

Backache should never be neglected. It means kidney disorder, which, if allowed to run too long, may result in Bright's disease, diabetes or other serious and often fatal complaints. Foley's Kidney Cure makes the kidneys well.

Observationsat Random

Mr. Schrey Hilo, clerk on the steamer Tennessee, has perhaps one of the oldest bills of lading in existence. The paper was made out in 1824, and is almost worn out. The ink on the paper is so dim that it can hardly be read. The paper was made out on the steamer Rocket at New Orleans, and the freight was killed to T.
K. Wyatt at Hendersonburg, Tenn., a station now unnoticed by the steamboats. The bill of lading called for several hundred pounds of freight at the rate of $1.50 per hundred in Tennessee currency.

Local doctors have received the following unique invitation to the Ohio Valley Medical Association, which meets at Henderson on November 11 and 12:

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 26, 1901.

Dear Doctor:

"The time has come, the doctor said,
To talk of many things:
Of bugs and bones and cases rare Of babes and other things."

Know all ye disciples of Esculapius by these presents:

That on the eleventh and twelfth days of the eleventh month, in the year one thousand and nine hundred and some Annie Dominos, in the city of Henderson, state of Mississippi, otherwise known as old Kaintuck, on the banks of the Ohio, and near several other Banks, there will be convened an assembly of practicing doctors, that is, they are always ready to practice: snake volants, at the bar, table, or at the bedside; whether it be to help make the issuance of Leah's fruitful womb painless, or to demonstrate the dissection of spring chickens; and as the story goes, they will meet together for the purpose of mutual pleasure and improvement. We propose to have a good programme on subjects of scientific nature, by practicing physicians, who have toiled through the wilderness of Endeavor, toward the Promised Land of Success.

It was the Victorian Front who wrote, "the knowledge that a man conceals is the only real knowledge; the only knowledge that has life and growth in it, and concrete itself into practical power. The rest hangs like dust about the brain or dries like raindrops off the stones." The object of the founders of this association was to create a live, practical organization of working physicians. The success of their effort has been proven in the past three years, for know ye, by this greeting, that this Association is now in its third or tertiary stage, having been delivered at Sturgis, Union county, Kentucky, in August, 1898, and has now merged from twenty members to nearly two hundred.

His passed through the steps adolescence, and on the 18th of May, 1901, was raised to the third degree, and ordained, specified, re-christened the "Ohio Valley Medical Association." You are cordially invited to attend and take part in the proceedings.

Fraternally,
Cyrus Graham, M. D., President.

A young man went to see a young lady several nights ago, during the first cool spell of the season, and wore his overcoat for the first time since last winter. When he started to depart the young lady brought in the overcoat from the hall, and assisted him into it. He got both arms in to the sleeves, but could get them no farther than the bottoms, and thinking the lining had become unsewed, took the garment off and made another attempt to get into it, with no better success. He then began to wonder, knowing that the lining was intact, and after a careful examination saw that the young lady's sister had jokingly sewed the bottoms of the sleeves.
He now takes his overcoat with him into the parlor when he calls.

There is a great deal of superstition among the actor folk, and the assertion was illustrated here on the opening night of The Kentucky. One of the chorus girls of The Beignomaster Co. was walking along Broadway when she saw a horse shoe in the street. She stepped out and picked it up. Smilingly she informed a carriage driver that she intended to hang it over her dressing room door, as it would give her and the theatre good luck the season through. She said that when an actor found a horse shoe on the opening day or night of a new opera house that he would always pick it up, if a true actor, and "up to snuff," and hang it over his dressing room door, and that it invariably brought a successful season.

"Whiskey will make a man rich quicker than anything else in the world," a well known saloon keeper remarked. "A young man from a neighboring city walked into my place of business several days ago and ordered whiskey. I sold him the drink, and he departed. Several companions entered with him the next time he came in, about fifteen minutes after the first visit, and a round of 'the same' was ordered. The bottle was kept pretty busy for more than an hour, and the original young man began to tell the crowd how rich he was. I believe he started out with a bank account of $5,000 and two farms, and with every drink he would raise his bank account about double the for-

CATARH

A Constitutional Affection.

Sprays, washes, powders, salves, medicated tobacco and cigarettes, however long and persistently used, do not cure Catarrh. They relieve temporarily the inflammation in the throat and nose, and enable the sufferer to breathe more easily and freely, but the continued rush of impure blood to these parts keeps up the irritation and ultimately produces ulceration of the glands, when the breath becomes exceedingly offensive and the soft bones of the nose are frequently destroyed. The catarrh inflammation extends over the entire surface of the mucous membrane, the stomach, kidneys and lungs are often involved; the whole system soon becomes affected by the rapid absorption of poisonous matter into the blood, and the disease that you had hoped to cure with simple local remedies, assumes a dangerous form.

I had Catarrh about 15 years, and tried during that time everything I could hear of, but nothing did me any good.
At last I came to the conclusion that Catarrh must be a blood disease, and decided to give S. S. S. a trial. I could see a little improvement from the first bottle, and continued it three or four months, or until I was cured. I have not taken anything for six years. Have no sign of the disease.—MRS. J. M. JONES, Lapeer, Mich.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease—a blood disease which is frequently inherited, and only a blood medicine, such as S. S. S., can remove the hereditary taint, destroy the poisons that have been accumulating in the system for years perhaps, and restore the blood to a healthy and pure condition. The defamed membranes and diseased glands are healed by this pure blood which is carried to them, and the offensive discharges from the nose, and the terrible headache and neuralgic pains cease. Chronic cases of the most desperate character and apparently hopeless, have been cured completely and permanently by the use of S. S. S. merize, and also would add a few more pieces to his real estate. Before he finally settled he was worth more than Rockefeller and all the other millionaires put together, and there was nothing too good for him. He per-chased three cigars at the "three for a dollar" price and departed. The next I heard of him he had been "knipped" and in the police court the next morning got $1 and costs for the offense of "plain drunk." He had thirty cents and a pocket knife when arrested, and had to send home with enough money to pay the fine. He was the richest man for the time being I ever heard of."

A well known young man of the city met with a pleasant surprise several days ago, and is $20 richer as a result of the affair. He was passing a pawn shop in Chicago, from whence he had lately come, and noticed an overcoat hanging in the window with a remarkably low price attached. The overcoat was of the best material, and as the night was cool, he thought he might as well accept the bargain and try the article, as he would need it later on in the season. Stepping into the establishment he asked to be allowed to examine the coat, and after an inspection found it to be in good condition, and bought it. Soon after he donned the garment he thought the coat did not fit properly about the shoulders, and after a close examination found that the lining near one of the arms was sewed to the outer cloth, and secured in building a patch of some kind between the lining and the outer cloth. The threads were cut and the seam opened and two ten dollar bills were disclosed. How the money got there is a mystery, and the only way it can be accounted for is that the money was hidden there from the fingers of a thief, and the coat had probably been subsequently stolen and disposed of in the pawn shop. At any rate, the owner is not worrying himself over how the money got there, but is well disposed to let matters stand as they are.

A shoe drummer, who comes to Paducah frequently, brings the latest story in the way of a mineral well.
He says that in Indiana there is an old Irishman who has made a small fortune for several years with his mineral well, and the well is of his own manufacture. The Irishman was employed at the round house of a big railroad for many years, and in his old age had saved enough money to buy a small farm, several miles out of the city. He made his living at first by raising vegetables and marketing them. He finally struck upon the idea of manufacturing mineral water, and starting a summer health resort, and since the establishment of the enterprise a few years ago, he has amassed quite a neat little sum, enough to make him independent for the remainder of his days. He went to the round house where he had formerly been employed, and procured several barrels of rust, which was taken from the boilers of the engines, and had them conveyed to his farm. He dumped the rust into a well and closed the month with bonfire. He had two wells on the farm, and used the first for his own purposes, while the other, into which he had dumped the rust, he opened several weeks later, and attached a "pure mineral well" of the purest and best healing qualities.
Several broken down invalids came to his place, and their vivid imagination soon had them cured, and the fame of the water soon spread. The Irishman was soon doing a big business, and every few months re-charged his well with the manufactured minerals, and the public knew nothing of the water. The secret leaked out one day while the Irishman was placing in several barrels of rust, and now his well is a thing of the past.

Y. M. C. A. MEWS.

THE ATTENDANCE AT SUNDAY'S MEETINGS ON THE INCREASE.

The lecture at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon delivered by Rev. George W. Perryman, entitled "Jonah," was well attended and highly interesting. The attendance is on the steady increase and before the series of lectures are fairly started it is thought that the seating capacity of the hall auditorium will be taxed.

There was also a good attendance at the boys' meeting. Mr. E. O. Reid had charge of the meeting. The boys are steadily picking up in their attendance and the meetings are growing very successful. A new series of illustrations will be made out and the talks illustrated. This has proven the best means to gain the attention of the little folks and also to obtain the best results.

The men's meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon at 8 o'clock was largely attended and Rev. O. W. Perryman gave an excellent address on the character of "Jonah." The photograph selections by Mr. Howard O. Warden were very fine and much enjoyed by all in attendance. The subject for next Sunday, October 20, is the life of Sampson.

One week from today the Religious Work Institute of the association will be held, this is a gathering in the interest of the religious work of the local association. Mr. Henry E. Rosevear and Mr. C. C. Stoddard will be present. The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Christian church will serve supper to all active members of the association on this night.

All boys who are members of the association or who would like to become members should be present at the Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock tonight. We desire to plan for a Field Day contest or an exhibition of some kind. Let all interested be present at 7 p. m.

SMOOTHED OVER.

The attachment was today released on the Ed Loftin property, tied up on a divorce and attachment suit filed by his wife, Monima Loftin, by Oliver and Oliver a short time ago. The couple have agreed to agree again. The divorce petition will be withdrawn.

ANNAPOLIS LIBERTY TREE.

Heavily this tree Samuel Chase arranged King George.

The Washington elm is more widely known than any historic tree in America, but it must share with the Liberty tree of Annapolis the honor of playing a part in the drama of liberty. This Liberty tree is a tulip tree (Liriodendron tulipifera), sometimes also called tulip poplar. Tradition says that the people of Annapolis met in the tree's shade before the revolution to consult together and listen to Samuel Chase in his arraignment of King George. At that time its spread of branches was far beyond anything known of it by this generation. It is also a tradition that Washington and Lafayette basked in its shade. The earliest tradition handed down to us of the Imperial poplar tree that adorns the college campus is that it served as the canopy under which the colonists and Indians made a treaty of peace. As history records only one document of this kind signed here, it is a tradition that must be the one agreed between the colonists and the sturdy Susquehanna in 1632. The next public use of it we find in "Edwards' Letters," was when the inhabitants assembled under it to determine whether or not persons who have not joined the Association of Patriots should be driven out of the colony. In 1825 Gen. Lafayette was entertained under it. About 1840 several youths were playing under this tree with that very dangerous but frequent adjunct of juvenile sport—gunpowder. They had about two pounds of it. They placed it in the hollow of the tree, where it was ignited and exploded, setting fire to the grand old tree. The citizens of Annapolis repaired in force for its rescue, the flames bringing out the city fire engine and deluging the tree with water. The boys' escapade was no doubt greatly denounced, but the juveniles had done better than the juveniles intended. The tree had fallen into a state of decay that threatened its life. The next year it put forth its branches with its youth renewed. The explosion had destroyed the worms that were gnawing away its vitality. One-third of the trunk is gone and is now boarded up. The body of the tree is a mere shell—a marvel how its life can be maintained and thousands of tulips bloom on its branches in their season.—Chicago Journal.
